Knowledge Is Wisdom

This project consumed huge amount of work, research and dedication. Still, implementation would not have been possible if we did not have a support of many individuals and organizations. Therefore i would like to extend my sincere gratitude to all of them.

First and foremost, I would like to thanks to Allah, for giving me the strength to complete this publication project. This magazine will not be able to be complete without the blessing that has been given by Allah to us.

We are also grateful to Encik Azmi Bin Ab Rahman for provision of expertise, technical support and providing necessary guidance concerning projects implementation. .Without his superior knowledge and experience, the project wouldn't be able to complete on time.

Next, I would like to express our sincere thanks towards some of the lecturers who devoted their time and knowledge in the process of making and providing us with their article.

Nevertheless, I would like to express my gratitude towards my colleagues for their kind co-operation and encouragement which working together as one team in the completion of this project. Without them, I believe that this project will not succeed as it was shown today.

Thank you.

Of Syntax and Chords; The Universal Connection of Language and Music

by S.Mariam Md.Ilyas

“ People worry about kids playing with guns, and teenagers watching violent videos; we are scared that some sort of culture of violence will take them over. Nobody worries about kids listening to thousands - literally thousands - of songs about broken hearts and rejection and pain and misery and loss “

Nowadays, people all around the world see education as a very important aspect in their lives. Regardless of any subject or topic that is being focused into, there are indeed many researches and studies to improve the quality of education. Among all the subjects are music and language. These two subjects are indeed not the same subject; however, I do believe that music and language is interrelated to each other; based on several aspects.

Both music and language share a same principle, which is the structure. In order to build a structure; for example a sentence or a phrase of melody in the song, we need to organize every single thing to make sure that the end result is in order and highly structured.

In other words, both music and language share a same principle; which is syntax. Syntax can be defined as ‘a set of principles governing the combination of discrete structural elements into sequences.’ (Patel, 2003). The example of the structural elements here are words and musical tones.

For instance, in a conversation, people do not just blabber anything that cross their mind. The same thing goes to a musician who plays a musical instrument. In order to produce a good melody he will apparently not just play the instrument and make any sound without organizing the sound first. In both cases, it is obvious that both music and language do have structures.

"Like language, music is a human universal involving perceptually discrete elements organized into hierarchically structured sequences."

Patel, 2003

Upon reading this statement, it does make sense that the function of language is intertwined with those of music. As language is concerned, every single people all around the world; who communicate to each other do organizes their words; such as the determiners, nouns and adjectives into phrases, and finally organizes the phrases into one complete, structured sentence. The same thing goes to music; as there are chords, chords progression, keys, phrases, modulation and cadences. Everything is being organized to produce something that is complete.

Talking about music, one aspect that is related is the property of sounds. For example, a group of students in a choir class might be taught about the correct way of singing a phrase in a song, such as the pronunciation and the tone. These two aspects are related in the studies of language; as it is closely related to the methodology of listening and speaking.

In English class, students might also be taught about the properties of the sound; such as in the phonology and phonetics studies. Students will be taught about the correct way of pronouncing certain vowels or consonants, the differences in terms of the length as well as the right form of pronouncing certain words; either strong or weak. They will also be taught about the correct tone in speaking to make sure that the communication is comprehensible and effective.

For example, the dynamics of the group of singer during the end of the phrase or a song might be different from their tone during the beginning of the song. The dynamics during the beginning might be softer, and become louder towards the end of the song. The same goes to the differences between a speaker's dynamics when asking for a favor and giving an order. In both cases, the distinction between two dynamics does mean something; and for both cases, the differences are absolutely obvious. Therefore, it can be said that both music and language share one similar aspect;

Both music and language are also interrelated to each other in terms of emotion; thus the cliché "music is the language of the emotion". Even so, I find that there are several aspects that make this statement relevant. It is well-known that people express their feelings and portray their emotions with the use of language; like words. And it is undeniably true that words are the best medium to convey the feelings to other people. However, I do believe that somehow the feelings will be much more emotionally comprehensible with the use of music.

In language, there are topics which focus on expressing emotion. In a drama class, the students will be taught about the right way in order to convey their feelings; involving correct pronunciation, tones, dynamics, stress and others. The same goes to music; as one of the aspects in music education is expression, such as the topics of dynamics and mood. (Sukatan Pelajaran KBSR, Pendidikan Muzik, Pg.6).

For example, in a drama, a movie or a play, it is indeed very true that people always use music to add in the impact of certain feeling; such as sad. Other than the actor saying his lines with full of heart-wrenching words and diction, it is definitely very true that the sound effect or the background music had also play the important role in expressing the emotion to the viewer. The same goes to music. Very often people use music as the medium in conveying or expressing their emotion. However, I do believe that it is much more effective with the use of words; or lyrics. With the correct use of words as well as the suitable choice of keys and notes, it is undeniably true that the combination of both music and language can be such a great tool of expressing emotions.

Researches had revealed that music and language are interrelated to each other scientifically. According to the article in ScienceDaily, September 28, 2007, music and language are processed by the same brain systems. In addition, there is a method which applies music in language learning. A Bulgarian psychologist, Georgi Lozanov (1979) had invented a method which is called as 'Suggestopedia'. Music was central to his method. As this method is concerned, the kind of music that is being used was Baroque music.

"Baroque music created created the kind of 'relaxed concentration' that led to 'superlearning' "

According to Ostrander & Schroeder (1979 : 65

Regardless of any other aspects that lie within this method, the main concern here is with such method being used in language learning, it is definitely true that music and language is related to each other. There must be several aspects which make music fits in the language learning. If it is not so, I strongly believe that there will be no such thing like a method which apply music in language learning.

A growing body of evidence; such as the research by a group of researchers from Georgetown University Medical Center (ScienceDaily, 2007), suggests that language and music are closely related than previously believed. Studying the precise nature of their overlap can reveal interesting things about the functional architecture of both domains and refine our understanding of the role of different brains areas in the processing of complex, hierarchically structured sound sequences.

I do believe that there will be much more research on this topic later on; as integrated learning is proven very helpful in improving the effectiveness of education. Other than the mechanical aspect of the effectiveness, I do believe that one should not just learn what he has to learn just the way it is. It is very good to integrate other related aspects to the process of learning itself, not just for the effectiveness, but also to enjoy the process of learning.

For all these times, music is seen as only the entertainment in people's life. As much as it does make sense, it is somewhat arguable. Other than entertainment, there are indeed a lot of other aspects that can be associated with music; for example language and the process of learning

According to Dobrian, 1992, "Music is not itself a language and therefore is not susceptible to precisely the same methods of analysis and teaching as verbal language; so it is almost certainly futile to attempt to model music entirely as a language.

Nevertheless, music does in most cases include the linguistic elements of symbols and grammar, and it is therefore very likely that linguistic methods of analysis and education can at least provide some insights into analogous processes of musical understanding."

Initially, music and language are indeed two different things. We should never treat the education of music and language as one identical aspect. However, I do believe that both music and language is closely related to each other, and the effort to integrate these two component in the process of learning is indeed very good. One can not just only use what he had gained in the language class just for language use only, but he can also use what he learned from music class to gain more understanding about language.

WHY DO WE STILL

A LIBRARIAN

I wish that I can stop the running time and organize everything following my way.
I want to help
Yet, they don't need me
What should I do?

I am a librarian
Before achieving this title, I have imagine myself conducting a success library with a good services.
Sadly, it was only in my imagination.
It is my duty to assist library users in finding information they need
It is my duty to teach and guide the users to use library materials in a right way for good
Yet, again
I am nothing for them
I feel down
Don't they know that I am here for them?
Don't they know other resources might get more valuable with my assistance?
I am not saying that I am an information goddess
But

But again, they prefer internet assistance rather than me
Am I that bad in giving services?
Why do they judge me without having a try of librarian services that available for them?
Why do they keep saying librarian is helpless when they do not even ask for help?
They are being discriminative.

A librarian

Lot of things that people does not know about librarian.

People tend to see librarian doing an easy task all this while

But, don't they know

A librarian is giving their best and ensure the services will bring benefits to the users

With librarian existence, users' difficulty in information seeking will be easy

A librarian never neglecting users' queries in giving services.

However, we have been discriminated and been judged with biased.

Why does this discrimination and biased judgement happen?

In automated library, users always complaining about library

But, why they still refuse to ask for librarian assistance?

Don't users want to make their task easier and complete it without problem?

Don't user want to seek for reliable information with librarian assistance?

Does user think that they are excellent in using the online database?

Do they can confirm the information from Internet can be trusted?

The reason for me being a librarian to help them
Nevertheless, users always think that they already know everything!

Life of a librarian.

The commitment of a librarian.

How a librarian struggle in ensuring every services are in good condition to be used

How a librarian gives their best by attending training class for better services

Everything relates with library, users and all sort of thing relates to information is under librarian consideration and responsibility

But, the user refuse to acknowledge the assistance provided

What does the library user really want when they are in library?

How can I make user acknowledge librarian services?

One can only appreciate something when they are losing it

It is something that cannot be helped when it is too late.

By generation, library will be innovated

Facilities will be improved and exchanged with new technologies.

It will be tough task when there's no librarian assistance

It will be more challenging when the innovation of technology getting better

It will be hard enough for new generation to find information without librarian guide and assistance

Thus, why user still denying the needs of librarian services?

A librarian

As a librarian, I really want to serve user along with my other responsibility

As a librarian, I really wish that my effort and my intention to ease library user information retrieval will be acknowledged by user

"I see libraries and librarians as frontline soldiers in the war against illiteracy and the lack of imagination" – Neil Gaiman

As a librarian, I want to assists and give guidance as it can be used throughout a lifetime.

"Give a man a fish and you feed him for a day. Teach a man to fish; you feed him for a lifetime"- Chinese Proverb

The proverb shows how an information can be used in a lifetime

As a librarian, I want to share my knowledge with user

I want to make user and help them be knowledgeable person

But one mind is differ from another

Library might seems only as information centre

However

With the right way of use, the user can get benefits from most of the services provided.

No matter what, as a librarian

I really hope the new generation will value library and make use the librarian services for their own benefits.

Happy No Worries

By : biraindrops

That happy look when I reach out my hand from a moving car,
The winds are being loyal to accept the handshake,
All I can think of is myself who never get tired of being me,
All I can think of are my beloved people who reach for me when I am down,
Why pleading for others when you have hearts to be taken care of?
Why being sorry for those who are responsible for your broken heart?
Such a waste of clock ticking when you ignore the smiling faces and longing for those crying nights,
The moon is smiling at you, The sun is shining for you,
Welcoming the good vibe and let the frown and hatred go,
And you will become the happiest person standing on this world,
Anticipating for tomorrow and have pride on the yesterday,
Wake up for a new thrill and brace yourself for the unforeseen hurdles,
Embrace the day, Live your life to the fullest,
and you will forget what your worries are all about,
you will never regret the day,
Gratefulness also positivity keeps you alive,
And that's what makes you radiant and sunny towards every bits of your journey.

Usman, A. (1988). Puisi-puisi pilihan sasterawan negara. Kuala Lumpur: Dewan Bahasa dan Pustaka (DPB), Kementerian Pendidikan Malaysia.

"Melayunya aku"

Tiba-tiba saya teringat lagu si labu terjun dengan labu-labunya, biarkan...biarkan. Mengapa dibiarkan? Saya juga masih teringat kepada puisi Sasterawan Negara Usman Awang yang berjudul "Melayu".

Melayu itu orang yang bijaksana
Nakalnya bersulam jenaka
Budi bahasanya tidak terkira
Kurang ajarnya tetap santun.

Melayu itu kaya falsafahnya
Kias kata bidal pusaka
Akar budi bersulamkan daya
Gedung akal laut bicara.
Berkelahi cara Melayu
Menikam dengan pantun
Menyanggah dengan senyum
Marahnya dengan diam
Merendah bukan menyembah
Meninggi bukan melonjak.

Watak Melayu menolak permusuhan
Setia dan sabar tiada sempadan
Tapi jika marah tak nampak telinga
Musuh dicari ke lubang cacing
Tak dapat tanduk telinga dijinjing
Maruah dan agama dihina jangan
Hebat amuknya tak kenal lawan.

Apakah orang melayu hebat....tiba-tiba saya terbaca seloka ini...

Memang mudah tuding jari kepada DAP
Memang senang tuduh MCA atau MIC
Betul Ke Cina dan India yang menyebabkan Melayu mundur?

Melayu alpa
Melayu merempit
Melayu ambil dadah
Melayu gila hiburan
Melayu asyik berkonsert
Di dewan-konsert, di padang-konsert, di stadium konsert.
Hebat Melayu, dari Bintang Kecil ke Bintang Tua!
Angkara Cina dan India kah semua itu?

Memang banyak cerita Cina diskriminasi Melayu di dunia pekerjaan.

Dalam sektor swasta mereka kuasai.
Sukar anak Melayu nak naik pangkat.
Dunia naik pangkat mereka control.
Payah peniaga Melayu nak mencelah sama.
Kita tidak kata Cina dan India 100% tidak bersalah.
Tetapi Melayu juga ada diskriminasi Cina dan India!!

Kita berkata, dimana Melayu boleh kawal kenapa Melayu tidak kawal.

Kenapa Melayu tak kawal hiburan hingga meleakakan remaja Melayu

Hingga kini bukan saja remaja Melayu,
Mak bapak Melayu pun asyik dengan hiburan.

Barangkali tok dan wan Melayu juga!
Bukan saja anak kecil, datuk dan nenek Melayu pun menyanyi.

Pun bergencok

Jadi kalau ramai pelajar Melayu tak tau solat.
Kalau lagi ramai yang tak tau solat tak tak bersolat la.

Terlalu ramai tak pernah jemaah di masjid

Salah Cina dan India lagi!!!

Siapa perintah Negara setakat ini... Cina dan India?

Siapa kesemua PM setakat ini... Cina dan India?

Siapa majoriti ketua-ketua jabatan setakat ini Cina dan India?

Sekarang ini mari kita pakat memperbaiki diri kita.

Perbaiki bangsa kita.

Perbaiki amalan agama kita.

Perbaiki anak muda kita.

Perbaiki pelajar kita.

Dengan menoleh ke dalam diri kita

Dengan muhasabah kesilapan kita.

Dengan ikhlas dengan kekurangan kita.

Dengan usaha perhebatkan bangsa kita.

Hanya Melayu yang Islam boleh maju kedepan.

Melayu yang Melayu sukar, lambat dan tak nampak jalan!

Lihat dalam Islam...

Kita diajak hanya 15 kali sehari, 450 kali sebulan,

5400 kali setahun.

Kan berkemundang "Haiyya alal Falah"

Dua kali dalam azan, sekali dalam iqamah...

5 kali sehari.

Mari Berjaya.

Come to success.

Tetapi "Hanyya Alal Falah: didahului dengan "Hanyya Alal Solah"

Maksudnya Berjaya mengikut acuan Islam.

Mari bersolat, mari Berjaya.

Come to solat, come to success.

Rumusan

Renung bangsa sendiri

Tengok amalan agama bangsa sendiri.

Teliti kesilapan kealpaan bangsa sendiri.

Apabila kita asyik tuduh Cina dan India.

Kita tambah dengan Kedazan dan Iban.

Kita Melayu, kita Muslim lupa perbaiki diri kita.

Itu salah kita selama ini.

Usah beralasan lagi.

Mari kita sama-sama cari jalan keluar.

Ayuh Melayu... sama-sama fikir, sama-sama renung.

Sama-sama bertindak dengan bijaksana.

Bukan emosi tak tentu hala!..

Terima kasih.
